Holds 20 Men At Bay With Iron Bar At Phenicia

New York Taxi Driver Holds Up Traffic and Kicks Shoes Off Feet in Battle With Officers Who Finally Subdue Him and Bring Him to Jail.

Deputy Sheriff Herbert Segelken at Phenicia received a hurry call this morning from north of the village where it was said a desperate man was holding forth. Arriving on the scene of action Mr. Segelken found one William Barritt of 40 West 70th street, New York city, drunk and fighting. He had taken a position on the Phenicia-Pine Hill road where the highway is under construction and with the aid of an iron bar from an automobile jack was holding up traffic. He refused to allow any cars to pass and was upholding his position to good advantage when the deputy sheriff arrived. Some twenty men were being held at bay.

Barritt, who says he is married and drives a taxi for a living, was driving a big Willys-Knight taxi prior to the arrival of the officer. With him was a woman but Barritt said he had pushed her out of the car some time prior when he decided he wanted to ride alone.

Mr. Segelken found plenty of fight in Barritt and it was not until Barritt had been forcibly subdued that he consented to have the handcuffs put on. During the mixup Barritt proved to be very efficient with his feet for he kicked Segelken in the back of the neck during the fight. The State Troopers were called and on their arrival Barritt proceeded to kick the Trooper in the back.

When finally subdued by the officer, Barritt was minus his shoes, which had been kicked off in the fight. He was taken to Phenicia, where a doctor was called to attend him and also examine him to determine whether he was intoxicated. There was but little question as to this.

After being examined by the doctor, Barritt was cuffed hand and foot and brought to the court house by Deputy Sheriff Segelken. On the trip down he made several attempts to wreck the car by grabbing Segelken's arm as he drove.

When brought to the court house, Barritt appeared to have been completely subdued and readily answered all questions put to him. He made no resistance when searched or when put in a cell.

At Phenicia he requested the officer to remove the handcuffs and fight but on his arrival in Kingston there was little fight left in him. Barritt is a husky individual, and put up a stiff fight before he was finally conquered. On arrival at the jail he was scarcely able to stand alone and his case of intoxication evidently was progressing.

Turned Husband Over to Police

Mrs. Wade told her husband called her indecent names, but only when he drank—husband given charge—other cases in police court.

Saturday evening the police were called to No. 36 Cordis street where Mrs. Robert Wade placed her husband under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct and turned him over to the officer. This morning she appeared in police court to press the charge.

Wade, who is 50 years old, said he had been married for twenty-five years and had raised a family. He said the last nine months he had not been treated as a husband, and that's why I say things that I ought not to.

Mrs. Wade said that her husband was a steady worker but it was only when he drank that he became abusive. She said she never attended dances or the movies but did go to church and was active in church work. Last Friday evening she said she had a church social at the house and her husband objected.

Judge Shufeldt said that as long as they had been married so many years and had raised a family it was rather late in life to start having family trouble and he saw no reason why they could not agree. He said he would sentence Wade to thirty days in the county jail but suspended the serving of the sentence pending Wade's future good behavior. The Wades are negroes and he is employed on a local brickyard.

C. E. Convention At Stone Ridge

Luther C. Dixon Re-elected President of County Union—Convention Largely Attended—Fine Program With Many Interesting Talks.

(Official Report.)

One of the most enthusiastic gatherings ever held by the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union was Saturday, October 1, when over 200 young people from all sections of the county gathered for their 36th Annual Convention in the Marbletown Church at Stone Ridge.

The first session began at 10 o'clock, with a rousing song service led by Mrs. George Brown of Highland, with Mrs. Norman J. Swindoll of this city at the piano; then the Rev. A. Van Arendonk of the New Hurley Reformed Church led the devotional moments after which we were welcomed by the Rev. Cornelius Van Tol of the Stone Ridge Church which was responded to by County President L. C. Dixon.

After the greetings we were favored with a musical number by two of the Wurts Street Baptist Endeavorers, Lawrence Jensen, violin, Bently Jensen, cornet, this number was more than well rendered and appreciated by all.

College of Conferences.

Taken came the "College of Conferences" and many fine points on the work were given by the following: Junior—Miss Vera Barnum, Kingston. Intermediate—Mrs. J. J. Donovan, Highland. Senior—Rev. A. J. Coffey, Phenicia.

Questions on departmental work were in charge of the Rev. J. E. Pickens, Acting New York State Field Secretary, and as any service or session that Mr. Pickens has charge of is always fine, we were met with no disappointment and his many hearers were reluctant to have him stop. Then came a fine address by the Rev. C. B. Smith of the Wurts Street Baptist Church who spoke on the "Attention and Attitude of the Christian Endeavorers" and it was much appreciated. Of course between all talks and addresses we had many songs. Then we were dismissed until one-thirty and had our picnic lunches on the church lawn.

McKenzie Fines Orchard Thief

Kazleh Finds That Green Apples Come High When Stolen From an Orchard in Esopus—Farmer Makes Arrest and Refuses Offer of Settlement.

Abraham Kazleh of either Newburgh or New York, one of a party of five persons in a Chevrolet car, license number 9X512, found on Sunday that there are some teeth in the new law protecting fruitgrowers from thievery, when Police Justice Henry E. McKenzie of the town of Esopus fined him $5 and told him a few things about common honesty and the rights of farmers. Kazleh had pleaded guilty to violation of Section 1425, subdivision 5, of the penal law, which has to do with trespass, malicious mischief and larceny on farm property, in having entered the orchard on the I. D. Churchwell farm at Ulster Park and helped himself to green apples. As Kazleh had secured only five apples when apprehended the fruit cost him $1 each.

Any private citizen may make an arrest when the offense is committed in his presence and turn the culprit over to the nearest officer, and in this case the arrest was made by Melvin Churchwell, who took Kazleh before Justice McKenzie, where he turned the prisoner over to Constable B. Corniglio of Port Ewen. Kazleh, having been caught with the goods, pleaded guilty. One of the women with him wept profusely and seemed on the verge of hysterics, but Justice McKenzie imposed and collected the fine just the same. On his way to court Kazleh made all kinds of offers of settlement to Mr. Churchwell, but that gentleman was not looking for settlement or payment, but for an enforcement of the law designed to protect the property of farmers from traveling thieves.

Census Board Files Charges

Mrs. Knapp Accused With Maladministration of $1,200,000 For the 1925 Census and Also Non-Feesance in Office.

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—The New York Times says today that Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, has been charged by the Cities Census Committee with maladministration of $1,200,000, which was appropriated by the state legislature for the 1925 census.

Mrs. Knapp was also accused of non-feesance in office, and of having the papers and records of the 1925 census sent to her home in Syracuse, where they were burned.

The charges were in a communication to Governor Smith filed with Robert Moses, secretary of state. The committee, an organization of private citizens, chartered by the state to promote interest in the census, also sent a copy of the communication to Attorney General Ottinger.

More than $25,000 was paid to relatives of Mrs. Knapp, the communication stated, for which available records failed to show any work performed. It was further charged she improperly certified travel vouchers amounting to approximately $3,000 which were issued to Mrs. Luella V. Ninde, an associate of Mrs. Knapp in the college of home economics of Syracuse University.

Mrs. Ninde's alleged signature on vouchers, it is said, were in Mrs. Knapp's handwriting, and were certified by a notary public in the office of the secretary of state.

Mrs. Knapp, in occupying the chair of secretary of state during two years from January, 1925, to February, 1927, held the highest position ever accorded in the state government and was the first woman to hold a state-wide elective office. She was an active leader in women's movements and in welfare work in Syracuse for many years before she entered politics. She was at one time superintendent of schools in Onondaga county and during the war was assistant food director for the state. Mrs. Knapp first came into state-wide political notice when she led the fight in the state for representation of her sex in the Republican National Convention, at Cleveland in 1920. As a result of that campaign, she was named alternate-at-large from New York.

Local Hospitals On Approved List

The Kingston City Hospital and the Benedictine Hospital are included again this year in the list of approved hospitals, it was announced today at the Tenth Annual National Hospital Standardization Conference of the American College of Surgeons at Detroit, Michigan.

"The Hospital Standardization movement," said Dr. Franklin H. Martin, Chicago, director-general of the American College of Surgeons, "is now in its tenth year. Its growth has been phenomenal: from 39 hospitals meeting the requirements, or 12.9 per cent, in 1918, to 1,893 hospitals, or 69.9 per cent, in 1927. This is due to the fact that the people of the United States, Canada, and other countries, where this movement is carried on, have been convinced of its worth both from the humanitarian and economic aspects. Every community must accept the responsibility of providing adequate care of the sick and injured. The only way possible to do this in a proper manner is through the acceptance and carrying out the principles of Hospital Standardization, as many of the hospitals in your community have done."

"Choosing your hospital when sick or injured is a most serious responsibility. This has been made easier in recent years through the publishing annually of the list of hospitals approved by the American College of Surgeons officially announced this morning. These approved hospitals stand for the right kind of care of the patient through the utilizing of the best means of diagnosis and treatment that modern scientific medicine can afford for the one out of every ten persons, or 12,000,000, who seek hospital care annually at a maintenance cost aggregating over $1,000,000,000. Results count most. These are evidenced by the lower average days' stay of patients in hospitals, and gradual falling of hospital death rates, the minimizing of complications, and the improving in results generally."

Kingston's Uptown Business Men's Association has enlisted the cooperation of not only its own members, but of practically every business concern in the section in the big Fall Display Opening which takes place at 7:30 Friday evening of this week and continues all day Saturday. Even those whose line of business is such that it does not lend itself to a seasonal display will have their windows illuminated and decorated and the uptown business streets will shine like an old-time torchlight procession Friday evening when the screened windows are unveiled.

Henry Roessler was arrested on St. James street charged with driving his car with no tail light. He gave bail for his appearance Wednesday.

Reports of Conventions

The afternoon started off with a song service, then echoes of the State Convention at Syracuse were given by Milton P. Townsend, secretary. Miss Beatrice Powley of Kingston told us about the wonderful International Convention at Cleveland—Miss Powley was the only representative of Ulster county at the convention. Miss Elvira Newkirk told about the State Conference to be held in Kingston the last of this month and Mrs. M. Elting Maynard of Highland told us about the good things to look forward to in 1928 at the Albany convention.

The business session opened with the report of the treasurer followed by the county to be in a flourishing condition with 32 Senior-Intermediate and 5 Junior societies totaling a membership of over 1,100.

Subpoenas For 35 Witnesses

Hammonton, N. J., Oct. 3 (AP)—Subpoenas for thirty-five witnesses in the grand jury's investigation of the slaying of Dr. A. William Lillendahl September 15, on a lonely road north of here, were issued today.

The case will be considered by the Atlantic county grand jury on Thursday, according to Assistant Prosecution C. Cameron Hinkle.

"We are moving at this time," Mr. Hinkle said, "because we feel we have fully covered everything. Willis Beach is not of enough importance to delay the presentation of the case to the grand jury."

Mr. Hinkle said he would ask for only one indictment but that more than one person might be named in the bill if returned.

Beach is sought as a fugitive from justice on a warrant charging him with aiding and abetting in the slaying of the aged retired physician. He fled from his home in South Vineland last week when he learned he was to face three men who saw an automobile answering the description of his car pull into the highway near where Dr. Lillendahl was killed.

Saugerties Has One Polio Case

The dreaded disease of poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, has made its appearance in Saugerties and Donald Martino, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Martino of that village, has been reported. The boy has been staying with his grandmother on Market street during the absence of his mother, who with the other children are visiting in Springfield, Mass. The boy was taken ill on Friday afternoon and Dr. B. W. Gifford was called. He called Dr. George F. Chandler of Kingston who diagnosed the case as infantile paralysis. The child is seven years of age.

Heat Kills Three In East

Many Prostrations Also Result From Unseasonable Heat Wave—Hottest October in 46 Years in New York—In Nineties Upstate.

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—The East beat a hasty retreat to its beaches over the week end to escape an unseasonable heat wave that broke all previous high temperature records for October and caused three deaths and many prostrations.

The mark of 87 degrees in New York city, three degrees higher than the previous high record for October, was higher than any temperature recorded in August and was exceeded only once in September.

Donald Morey, 23, died in a New Brunswick hospital, where he was taken from the gridiron after being overcome by heat during the football game Saturday between Rutgers and Manhattan College.

Heat took the lives of an 80 year old man in New York city and a baby girl at Grantwood, N. J.

Among those prostrated was Fritz Scheff, actress, who fainted on the stage near the end of her performance in "Bye-bye Bonnie" in a theatre at New Haven, Conn.

Sunday, the hottest October day in 46 years in New York, saw temperatures of 87 degrees at 1 p. m. and again at 3 p. m., breaking the previous record for the month, 85 degrees, which had only been established Saturday. In upstate New York the mercury was in the nineties, 92 being the record at Buffalo and 100 at Waterloo. The thermometer at Atlantic City, N. J., registered 74, several degrees higher than the average for July.

Walker Held for Hearing.

Earl Walker, who gave his occupation as a chef, is in the Ulster county jail awaiting a hearing before Judge Harold Lent at Highland on a charge of assault in the second degree in the town of Lloyd.

Ulster Park Man Installed Motors

William G. Gardner Supervised Work on Largest Electrically-Driven Ship, Launched at Newport News on Saturday.

William G. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gardner, of Ulster Park, employed as an electrical engineer by the General Electric Company of Schenectady, supervised the installation of motors and high-speed turbo-generators in the steamship California, the largest electrically-driven ship in the world. The craft which will play a large part in linking the Atlantic and Pacific coasts was launched at Newport News, Va., Saturday.

The California, a 22,000 ton-queen of the seas, designed by Ernest H. Riggs, leading American naval architect, is constructed to ply the 5,000 miles between New York and California, through the Panama Canal in sixty days. The record is now eighteen days. Electricity will be used in propelling the liner which will have a speed of eighteen knots—equal to 20.75 miles an hour on land. The steamship, largest ever built under the American flag, is a product of the Panama-Pacific of the International Mercantile Marine Company.

The gigantic steamship is constructed for passenger and freight transportation and may readily be adapted for transatlantic trade. It has been termed the marine automobile garage and has a capacity of 140 autos. The cars can enter the vessel through side ports and run into the garage between decks, eliminating the usual hoisting.

The ship has eight decks which space added to the floor of the lower hold aggregates an area of 7.2 acres. The cubic volume of the hull and superstructure is 2,717,000 feet, equal to the living space in 270 eight-room dwellings of average size. The craft is 601 feet long, 80 feet broad, has a 55-foot hull depth and a displacement of 20,239 tons when laden.

Mr. Gardner is well known here where he attended and was graduated from old Ulster Academy. He is a graduate of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, where he received his training in electrical engineering.

Dr. Gates in New York.

Dr. A. C. Gates of Clinton avenue and Dr. Luther Emerick of Saugerties leave tomorrow for a period of hospital work in New York. Dr. Gates' office will be closed until October 24.

BATTLE ON OVER OLD CEMETERY

Court Order Forbids Use of Historic Ground as Pasture.

Valparaiso, Ind.—Historic Balltown, nestled in Westchester township, on the southern edge of the old Calumet river bottom in the time region of Porter county, once the stamping ground of friendly Indian tribes, now is the battleground for what appears to be a long and bitter fight.

Desecration of the now famous Balltown cemetery, wherein lie the bones of Joseph Bailly, grizzled pioneer and founder of the town which bears his name, has resulted in 21 citizens filing injunction proceedings in the Porter Circuit court here.

Carl John and Ansonia Danielson are the targets for the legal attack launched by the plaintiffs. The Danielsons, it is charged, have permitted cattle to roam about the cemetery, turning the heretofore sacred ground into a pasture. Members of the tiny community, who staunchly believe that the three-acre plot should forever be preserved, are up in arms and have announced their intention of battling to the finish. And Balltown, a usually tranquil place, is buzzing with excitement.

While the war rages, Judge Grant Crumpacker has granted a temporary restraining order without notice and thereby gained a point for the complaining faction. James J. McGarvey, youngest member of the Porter county bar and a deputy prosecuting attorney, has carried the colors of the plaintiffs before Judge Crumpacker.

Site of First Settlement.

Westchester township is the historic ground of Porter county. Here the first settlement was made and here civilized man and savage joined hands and trod together the paths of peace.

In 1822 a solitary white man was watched closely by Indian eyes as he wended his weary way through the wilderness around Lake Michigan. He walked without fear, for the Indians knew him as a friend. Safety and warm welcome were alike, while long miles lay behind him toward his white friends.

During the War of 1812 this man was taken prisoner by both the American and British forces, but failed to belong to either army. In his wanderings he sought safety, and opportunity to trade with friendly Indians.

As the Indians gradually dwindled away with the advent of the white men Joseph Bailly, the French Canadian trader, followed. He halted in 1822 on the north bank of the Calumet, in what is now Porter county. Upon a beautiful bluff he erected the first cabin in the region. Bailly bartered with the Indians and his business increased and his buildings multiplied.

Weds Indian Girl.

Meanwhile Bailly had met and won an Ottawa maid and brought his bride to dwell at the foot of the banks of the Calumet. Here they reared a family of four daughters. Eleanor, the oldest for several years was mother superior of St. Mary's in Terre Haute. The second daughter married Colonel Whittier, a resident of the county, and the third wed a Chicago banker by the name of Howe. Not least, the youngest became the bride of Joseph Whittier, the first merchant of Deerp River in Lake county. Besides the daughters a son was born to the Baillys in 1817 and died ten years later.

When Bailly buried his only son, a lot of ten years, in 1827, he erected a huge oak cross, 50 feet in height, to his memory. The cross rose high above the surrounding forest, inasmuch as it rested on a knoll. For years travelers and mail carriers used this cross as a guide.

On the cross was the following inscription: "Today, my turn; tomorrow, yours," and also "Jesus Christ crucified, have mercy upon us."

The father himself passed away in 1835, after being for almost ten years the only white settler in what is now Westchester township. Balltown cemetery holds the remains of its founder, his son, his granddaughter, Frances Howe, and members of an extinct tribe of Indians.

Arthur J. Bowser, for many years a resident of Chesterton, Ind., who is at present making his home here, tells many interesting tales of Balltown, now robed in tradition. Bowser, sixty-four, spent 47 years of his life as a newspaper man.

An elm and an oak tree still standing at Balltown were planted together by Bailly and his Indian bride. If the trees entwined and lived, the Indian maid predicted their marriage would endure. Mr. Bowser complied other data of interest during the many years he resided near Balltown.

Even though the Danielsons purchased the three-acre strip, including the cemetery, from Emma C. Huston, daughter of Mrs. Howe, and her husband, James L. Huston, now residents of Los Angeles, the late citizens contend that they haven't the right to desecrate the graves.

EVENING
FAIRY TALE

Mary Graham Bonner

MR. SUN'S BIRTHDAY

Everyone had seen Mr. Sun on his way to bed.

He had been as red as could be and very, very content. They wondered what Mr. Sun was up to, and back in Fairyland the Fairy Queen was telling the fairies what it was all about.

"Mr. Sun had a birthday party this afternoon," she said, "and our friends the gnomes were invited."

"They hadn't had a party given for them in ever so long and it was extremely nice of Mr. Sun to have done this."

"Do tell us about it, Fairy Queen," urged the fairies.

"He told his guests," commenced the Fairy Queen, "to come just a little while before it was time for him to go to bed."

"Well," said Peter Gnome, "you don't suppose we would come after you had gone to bed, do you?"

"Oh, no," said Mr. Sun as he grinned, "but the party must begin at just such a time and end at just such a time."

"I have my own special reasons, so come as I've said, won't you, gnomes?"

"By all means," said the gnomes.

"And just a little while before Mr. Sun's going to bed time, all the gnomes appeared on top of a high hill."

"Mr. Sun was sleeping brightly, but when the gnomes noticed he began to get even brighter and brighter, and more red every second."

"You're looking so wonderful, Mr. Sun," the gnomes called out in admiration.

"So glad to hear you say that," said Mr. Sun, "for this is my birthday party."

"Your birthday?" they cried out in amazement. "Why we never knew you had a birthday!"

"Oh, oh," said Mr. Sun, and he almost lost his fine color he had been getting.

"Dear me, oh, Mr. Purple Cloud," he called, "let me hide my head in your best shawl—these little gnomes never knew I had a birthday!"

"And for a moment Mr. Sun was hidden by a purple cloud, and only a shadow could be seen from his beautiful red color."

"But explain to us," said the gnomes, "We don't want to hurt your feelings."

"We're only too glad to be at your birthday party. We just didn't know about it—that's all."

"Won't you tell us, Mr. Sun?"

"And Mr. Sun again came out from the purple cloud and said:

"Why, you see when I change into this bright red robe of mine—then it's my birthday."

"Perfectly simple, isn't it?"

"And as for having more than one birthday a year—that is true."

"I have them whenever I feel like it—but usually I have one when I'm going to work very hard the next day, to make people live and warm, and the things the gardens grow."

"You see, when I'm feeling so strong and well I think I ought to celebrate, so I give a birthday party."

"Everyone admires me when I wear this robe, and it's just the same to me as though they were all saying that they wished me many happy returns of the day—for they all are hoping that I will wear the red robe again."

GAS BUGGIES—Amy Takes It Seriously.

ALTHOUGH HEN AND AMY HAD A HEATED DISCUSSION OVER THE MYSTERY OF WHY THEIR CAR WAS MISSING FROM THE GARAGE, WHEN AMY WENT TO GET IT, THE MATTER STILL REMAINED AN UNSOLVED SECRET.

IT'S BEYOND ME, HEN. I KNOW THAT CAR WASN'T IN THE GARAGE WHEN I CAME OUT TO GET IT TODAY, AND YET HERE IT IS NOW.

WELL, AMY, YOU SAW ME HAVING HERE. YOU KNOW I DIDN'T TAKE IT, AFTER SAYING I'D LEAVE IT FOR YOU. BUT IT'S EASILY EXPLAINED—YOU JUST IMAGINED YOU LOOKED FOR IT.

IMAGINE NOTHING! I CAME OUT HERE TWICE, AND THERE WAS NO SIGN OF IT EITHER TIME. NO SIR—THAT CAR WAS OUT—BUT WHO HAD IT—THAT'S THE QUESTION?

NOBODY HAD IT—YOU FORGOT TO LOOK. I GUESS THAT'S ALL. FORGET ABOUT IT, AMY.

I CAN'T FORGET IT. SOMETHING WENT ON—LOOK—THERE ARE TWO MEN SNOOPING AROUND OUR GARAGE—THEY JUMPED OUT OF SIGHT WHEN THEY SAW ME—

PROBABLY A COUPLE OF NEIGHBORS. SEEMS IF I'D BOUGHT MY $14,000 CAR YET—WHICH REMINDS ME I HAVE A DEAL ON TOMORROW.

The collie to the greyhound said: "I would be some joke, my brother. If cops quit shooting at us dogs, to shoot at one another."

Another way to exterminate our wild life is to do a little spanking.

"As I was sitting in the crowded car coming out home tonight," said Warner, at the dinner table, "a woman entered and stood almost exactly in front of me."

"And you got up and gave her your seat?" queried his wife.

"No," replied Warner, "another fellow got ahead of me. But I had to wait five minutes for him."

Henpecked husband: "Where is your mistress going for the winter?"

Maid: "To Palm Beach, Sir."

H. H.: "Do you know whether she is taking me with her?"

Did you ever get any cheerful news out of one of those envelopes with a sun parlor in front? Neither did we.

Banquet: Some cold victuals on a plate; somebody you don't know introducing a speaker you don't care to hear.

Sandy was walking along the street in Detroit with a pair of trousers hanging over his arm. Someone asked him who he was working for—he replied the Detroit Free Press.

It is said a German, a Frenchman and a Russian made a bet as to which of them could stay the longest in a goat stable. They all entered the stable at midnight; after fifteen minutes the German came out, ten minutes later the Frenchman appeared. At one o'clock the goat left the stable.

October.

October is a daring sprite, A winsome little maid, Brown-eyed, laughing, temperamental, Hair of russet shade.

Just can't blame Jack Frost for stealing My best flowers to give her; Anybody'd like to please Dear little maid, October.

Times she'll start the day a singin' Breezy, mellow song, Makes you want to leave your work, And hike along.

Sometimes, too, she takes to sighin', Makes you feel so blue; Shakes the leaves from out her garments, Skies are frowning, too.

Wouldn't want to change her temper To a sunny smile; Why, even mortals aren't happy All the while.

Never know just what she will do— Dance or sing or cry; Still I love the bright October, Why shouldn't I?

Aggrieved Customer: "That can of corn I bought here exploded with a loud noise."

Quick-witted Grocer: "I'm very sorry, madam. One of my careless employees evidently sold you pop corn."

Love may be blind, but the average mother-in-law is an eye opener.

He: "I'm going to kiss you every time a star falls."

She (ten minutes later): "You must be counting the lightning bugs."

Relieved His Feelings

"Had a good lecture on Alaska, didn't we, Zeb?" asked one of Mr. Gorton's neighbors, meeting him the next morning. "To sit there by the radio peaceful as pie for two hours hearing him reel off the information was a grand rest for me, beat out with cranberrying as I be."

"It was a good enough talk," admitted Mr. Gorton, grudgingly, "but it didn't rest me any to speak of. Having to sit stock still without a chance to get in a word for two mortal hours I was pretty well worn out afterward. But I took the lantern out in the wood shed and by the time I'd split up a week's kindling I felt kind of rested and calmed down."—Kansas City Star.

The Wrath to Come

President Guth of Goucher college told at a tea in Baltimore an examination story with a moral.

"A student," he said, "took it easy through the year, and when examination time came he failed in all seven of his examinations."

"Poor father," he thought, "and he so proud of me."

"So the student hurried to the telegraph office and telegraphed to his sister:

"Failed in all seven examinations. Prepare poor father."

"His sister telegraphed back: 'Father prepared. I prepare your self.'"

Liquid Lenses Perfected

As substitutes for ordinary lenses glass shells filled with liquid have been devised by a French inventor, who says that by his process an astronomical lens equal to the usual ground type that would cost $100,000 and require years to complete, may be made in a few weeks for $1,000.

The fluid substance is inclosed between two hard surfaces, and the lenses may be used in opera glasses, cameras and microscopes.

Little Groulth Strides a Popular Note in Both Fabric and Color in a Recent Model.

New York.—An undercurrent of sentiment is exorable at this season when youth—and middle age, too, for that matter—is agog over football games, and when old and young are thrilled over the raising of the curtain on the social season. All these events mean clothes, and clothes mean a problem, it is true, but also a keen delight to the average woman.

There is sufficient novelty of line and detail apparent to add more than the usual measure of interest. Consider, for example, a Parisian model, from Nicole Groulth, who loses nothing in interest by being the tall-

The Autumn Hat Is Generally Irregular in Shape and Frequently Suggests a Tilt.

New York.—Granted that felt hats, in vogue now for many moons, have been smart, could one really call them flatterers? In the days gone by, women relied upon their hats to frame their faces, so that there was some justification for them being called "as pretty as a picture." The modern hat does little toward contributing anything but chic. Completely covering the hat and all but smothering the eyes, woman has achieved prettiness in so much because of her hat as in spite of it.

The autumn hat offers variety even darts to depart from accepted lines by developing individuality and, what is perhaps more important, contour. Following the universal trend, the new hat is irregular, and although it remains firmly placed on the head, suggests a tilt because of the decidedly one-sided handling of its trimming, or of the drapery that so often substitutes for trimming. The threatened return of the towering crown came to naught.

Hats still retain a relationship to its outline of the head and are inclined to be soft, and far more flattering than for several seasons. Although there is some attempt to reinstate plumage, the smartest women stab their brims or crowns with gleaming rhinestones or maracas, usually of geometric formation. Velvet is the headliner of the season, judging from what one reads, yet those who have kept their fingers on the pulse of fashion find it still more responsive to felts.

Hoop Skirt Models on Display at Paris Races

The women who died, exercised and went without sleep to reduce themselves to dressmaker's specifications are looking with suspicion at the hoop skirt models which are in evidence now, in Paris.

Crimoline skirts were worn by a few mannequins at the fashionable Drags at the Autenil race course. Hoops were the note of a Philippe and Gaston collection at a Paris hotel showing recently. The full-skirted robe de style seems to be gaining in favor. Women who pride themselves on their stenderness have plenty of evidence that certain dressmakers would like to see hips reinstated and the pencil silhouette obliterated.

Taffetas or chiffon are the materials most used for the full-skirted dresses. Most of them have uneven hemlines but a few cover the ankles all-around. The bodices of these dresses are usually straight, simple and fitted to a waistline slightly lower than normal.

Sweaters, Sleeveless Jackets and Jumpers

Sweaters, sleeveless jackets and jumpers—these are among the most popular dress accessories for fall. The cardigan, with the front striped in varying lengths of different colors and the back plain, is most attractive. The sleeveless jacket, which combines duvetyne and leather, is splendid for autumn weather. The woolen sweater for fall is plain except the roll collar, which usually is in three contrasting colors.

Checks in Black and White, Also Navy Blue

Many small checks in black and white and also in navy blue and white are a phase of the late summer styles displayed in Paris.

Molynaux is one of the dressmaker who sponsors the checked silks. She makes them into simple dresses with matching short coats. The same application is made of polka dots for summer. There are simple black and white hats to match both types of costume.

Curved Seam Features New Kid Oxford Tie

Seemingly sporty, some of the newest kid oxford ties have the front section seamed on a curved line that tapers upward toward the arc of the foot. These stunning two-eyed shoes have their upper edge cut low enough to gracefully curve below the ankle and have high, slender heels to impart additional daintiness and grace.

Better Than Unbelief

Blue and White Printed Chiffon for Fall Wear

Blue and white printed chiffon, with long coat of navy blue wool georgette, comprises this pleasing outfit designed for autumn.

Extremely Flattering Diagonal Lines Liked

The extremely flattering diagonal lines in fall frocks are meeting favor among not only the women of moderate means, but those generally known as the ultra-smart. Shops are showing black with white a great deal, and black with flesh and with beige. On a colored frock there is very often a lighter shade of the same color. Leaf green and chartreuse are smart together and so are navy blue and slate blue.

Semi-sheer crepes, it is asserted, are here to stay. A frock of georgette crepe that is put on like a coat and fastened with a bow at the waistline, with shirred fullness in the skirt, is smart.

That three-year-old favorite, the jumper frock, will be worn again by many women. One variation has a box-plated skirt, collarless neckline, snug hips. The straight skirt was hrog on a bodice top, and the pleats were only in the front, where they will not be discouraged. It should look well beneath a straight, furrow coat.

Give pleasure. Lose no chance of giving pleasure. For that is the careless and unconscious triumph of a truly loving spirit.—Henry Drummond.

VEGETABLE DISHES

In many homes the entire meal for the dinner time is composed of vegetables in some form. Here are a few suggestions:

For soup there is such an endless variety that it is needless to name but a few, such as potato, cream of onion, asparagus, pea and bean. For a main dish it is best to choose some vegetable which will blend into the menu, after the soup. Try some of these in a dinner menu:

Fried Summer Squash.—Cut the squash into crosswise slices about one-half inch thick. Peel and remove seeds unless very tender. Dip each slice into beaten egg diluted with cold water and then into fine bread crumbs. Sauté in hot fat until brown on both sides and well cooked.

Baked Tomato a la Creole.—Wash six firm tomatoes and cut a slice from the top of each. Scoop out the pulp, leaving a shell one-fourth-inch in thickness. Chop the pulp and mix with a cupful of cold minced chicken or other meat, one cupful of bread crumbs, one tablespoonful each of chopped onion and green pepper and one teaspoonful of salt, a bit of cayenne and paprika to season. Stuff the tomato shells with the mixture, add a bit of butter to each and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are brown. Baste often with butter and water and serve with a rich brown sauce.

Cabbage au Gratin.—Chop very fine three cupfuls of cooked cabbage. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir in one cupful of milk. Cook until the mixture is thick and smooth, then add one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika. Fill a greased baking dish with layers of cabbage and white sauce until all are used. Cover with one-half cupful of crumbs that have been well mixed with three tablespoonfuls of butter. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes or until the crumbs are well browned.

Hasbrouck Stars as Local Gridders Win Opening Game of Season Against Strong Eleven—Victory Was Late But Crowd Was Good.

Before a sweltering heat attack that was more oppressive than the backfield attacks of their opponents, the Kingston Yellow Jackets launched their gridiron season most auspiciously Sunday at the Fair Grounds, defeating the Staten Islanders by a 7-0 score. The game which was two hours late in starting came to the local gridders in the third period as Joe Hoffman galloped across for a few yards gain following Lee Hasbrouck's spectacular break-a-way down the field for a 45 yard advancement.

Hasbrouck Stars.

Lee Hasbrouck was responsible for the biggest thrill of the afternoon which turned out to be the paying of the way for the only touchdown of the afternoon. Immediately at the start of the second half, Hasbrouck received the pigskin on the kickoff and breaking his way past the opposing tacklers ran the ball for forty-five yards to the Staten Islanders' fifteen yard line. Hoffman advanced the ball a yard and then Colvin plowed forward for four additional yards. Following another successful plunge by Colvin for a first down, Joe Hoffman ran the ball over the final marker. Lee Hasbrouck kicked a placement for the extra point making the score 7-0.

Colvin and Hoffman.

Colvin and Hoffman carried the ball most often for the Kingstonians but due to the brilliant defensive work of the opposing ends and tackles neither of this pair got away for any great runs. Several times these two battered through for twenty yards but never beyond this limit. The biggest run was Hasbrouck's when he ran back the kickoff at the start of the second half to put Kingston in place for a touchdown.

Taub Plays Brilliantly.

Darden, the colored left end, stood out most prominently in curbing the local backs' aspirations for long gains. Darden, who won laurels and a great reputation while playing college football in the South, was in practically every play stemming the Kingston backfield's attempt to advance the ball for long yardage.

Visitors On Wrong Route.

The Kingston line held out strong against the attacks of the Staten Islanders backfield, the enemy line backers never being able to tear through for a particularly electrifying gain. Vince Rice played a stellar game for the Yellow Jackets, more than once bringing his quarry to earth when a mis would have meant a great deal toward a touchdown.

Visitors On Wrong Route.

The game was scheduled to start at 2:30, but the Staten Islanders did not arrive until 4:30. Misinformation which they gleaned enroute as to which was the shortest way to Kingston was the principal cause of the two hour delay. At Haverstraw they were put on the wrong road to Kingston. Then when they arrived at Highland, some accommodating tourist directed them around by the way of New Paltz. They started from New York city at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Pigskin Pickups.

A typical summer day with the thermometer hovering about the 90 degrees mark added to the misery of the football fans who were made exceptionally uneasy by the late arrival of the Staten Island Professionals.

eleven throughout its entire existence it has been performing against worthy opponents in the Metropolitan and the east for eight years.

Some grid fans who adopted the sport as a favorite some years ago might remember the Staten Island Professionals under which name the Professionals made their debut. Some of the uniforms used Sunday bore the eleven white U of the former eleven. The grounds proved a welcome shelter from the hot sun rays for many of the fans during their long wait for the Yellow Jackets opponents to arrive.

The "body pop" and hot dog business flourished and the usual vendors were not needed to solicit trade among the overhated crowd.

The only disappointment beside the late starting of the contest was that Chief Vinditti, Haskell University performer, did not enter the game. His absence from the contest was caused by an injured knee.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in keeping the fans back of the ropes. They were warned several times after swarming about the scene of action that their course would mean unfavorable results for the Yellow Jackets but no heed was paid to Referee Olsen's advice until after he inflicted a fifteen yard penalty upon the locals in the third quarter.

The players perspired during the contest almost as much as Dwyer during the wait for the team.

The Yellow Jackets and their backers are set for another football contest in the near future and all hope the same difficulty was prevalent last season and the enthusiastic fans might do well to remember that their eagerness may tend to hamper chances for a touchdown, possibly the winning of a game.

This Girl Has Stable Of Promising Fighters

ATLANTA, Ga. (I.N.S.)—Enter the woman into another sphere hitherto sacred unto her lord and master (laughter)—the male.

Frederica Coleman of Buckhead, a suburb of this city, owns and operates a flock of fighters. She expects to have one of the largest stables of leather pushers in the South, when she gets the boys she wants under contract.

Miss Coleman is 18 years old. Her most promising fighter today is Johnny (Kay) Vickers. At least, Kayo was his nickname before Johnny, aged 20, became engaged to his pretty manager. Miss Coleman thought it wasn't exactly refined, so she changed it. The fans know him as "Smiling Johnny" Vickers now.

Miss Coleman is a piano teacher, and plays the organ in the Buckhead Calvary Baptist Church. She met Vickers when he was a choir singer in the same church.

From the embattled pose of the photograph it might be assumed that the pair are already married, but the date for the tinkling of the wedding bells has not been set.

Forces Gather For World Series

At Pittsburgh Where First Game Will Be Played on Wednesday—Nip and Tuck Battle Expected.

By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 3 (P.)—Assembling their forces here today for the start of the World Series on Wednesday, the Yanks and Pirates, most colorful teams in baseball, seem likely to have a nip and tuck battle for the games' premier prize, with the outcome a tossup, if their performances over the last month are accepted as a basis of comparison.

The last three tussles for the world's championship all have gone the limit of seven games. It wouldn't surprise many of the experts if this series also developed a last ditch fight. If it does, attendance and financial records, established on a new high level last year when 328,051 fans paid $1,267,864 to see the Cardinals beat the Yankees, probably will be shattered once more, with greater seating capacities available.

The last month effect play has usually been the best guide of all in "doping" the relative merits of series contenders. It affords a significant index of rival strength this season, even though the Yankees, their pennant clinched early, breezed through most of September while the Pirates fought it out in a hectic National League struggle decided on next to the last day of the season. But the Yankees, though minus a pennant incentive from September 13 on, put their full strength into the fray in quest for individual and team records.

Sizing up the rivals from this last month point of view, it looms as a battle between the Yankee artillery and the Pirate sharpshooters.

Yanks Have Hitting Edge.

Emphasizing the tremendous clubbing power of the American League champions, their closing record discloses a last hitting edge in their favor, especially on long distance clouts, while at the same time revealing the Buccaneer hurling staff as steeper and more effective than their rival moundmen.

In games won and lost there is little to choose, the Yankees again showing a slight margin with 21 victories in 29 games over the period from August 31 to the season's close, while the Pirates, in their desperate night of victory, captured 25 out of 35.

The secret of Yankee success lay chiefly in their bats, where Ruth and his mates compiled an average of .324, higher than the team's whole season mark. The Pirates, showing a batting mark of .289, pulled through chiefly on the pitching prowess of four righthanders—Rav Kremer, Vic Aldridge, Carmen Hill and John Miljus.

Tagging Major League Beasts

(By The Associated Press.)

Fourteen major league baseball teams were disbanded today and more than 250 players were starting for their homes, leaving the one who will witness the world series, starting Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

The curtains dropped on the 1927 season yesterday with only one contest on for positions. The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6-4, and gained second place in the National League. The New York Giants, who had aspired for the runner-up post, beat out Philadelphia, 5-4, in ten innings, but landed in third place, one-half game behind the world's champions. The Cards were booked for a doubleheader against the Cubs but rain set in during the eighth inning and the second game had to be cancelled.

Pittsburgh closed the season one and one-half games ahead of St. Louis. The National League champions lost their final game to Cincinnati, 1-0. Chicago ended in fourth place, six and one-half behind the Giants. Cincinnati was fifth, and the Brooklyn Dodgers, who won their closing game from Boston, 5-1, finished sixth. Boston was seventh and Philadelphia last.

The Yankees were not scheduled yesterday, but they won the American League pennant with eighteen and one-half games to spare over Philadelphia. Washington bested Philadelphia 9-5, in the last game and placed third. Detroit took a doubleheader from Cleveland, 11-5 and 5-4, and ended in fourth place, two and one-half games behind Washington. Chicago finished fifth, Cleveland sixth and the St. Louis Browns, who closed with an 8-3 win over Chicago, were seventh. The Boston Red Sox brought up the rear of the procession. A coincidence of the final standing shows that the Red Sox and the Philadelphia Nationals finished last in their respective leagues with the same percentage, each having won 51 games and lost 101. Philadelphia was 43 games from Pittsburgh and first place, while the Red Sox were 53 games behind the Yankees.

Red Killefer Gets Plenty of Rest

Red Killefer, manager of the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, drew more than a month's vacation last season. He was chased from the park on 38 occasions for trouble with the umpires and the total time he was off duty was 38 days. If a change is as good as a vacation, Killefer profited immensely as he had plenty of change. Some of the specie variety was deducted from his pay envelope.

Dr. Cooke Says Dribble Ban Hurries Up Game

Basket ball will be a "much better and faster game" with the passing of the dribble, Dr. L. J. Cooke, former basketball coach at the University of Minnesota for 27 years, said in commenting on the recent change in the rules which tie the dribble down to one bounce, beginning next season.

"It will make the game a quick passing, speedy game that will be a better contest to watch and will also eliminate many personal fouls," said Dr. Cooke.

All-Stars Win Doubleheader

The Kingston All-Stars defeated the Rondout A. C. nine at Block Park Sunday afternoon in a dual bill, 15-13 and 7-4. The victories scored by the All-Stars were the second and third consecutive wins over the Seventh ward nine. The teams met in their initial battle at the Fair Grounds, Sunday, September 24. Darkness interfered with the progress of the second encounter, which had to be called after the seventh inning.

COLUMBUS DAY

THE discovery of America was no mere accident. Columbus was a skilled navigator. Besides being versed in the science of his profession he possessed a vivid and highly sensitive imagination. When Columbus saw the ship take a downward course on the ocean his imagination pictured for him a world which was not flat but round. If the world is round, he reasoned that there must be still unexplored lands and seas beyond the horizon. Of course the people of his own day laughed at him. So did they laugh when Newton discovered the three laws of planetary motion. They laughed at the Wright brothers endeavoring to fly an airplane. Henry
 Ford was ridiculed when he rode up Woodward avenue in Detroit in his one-cylinder automobile. But, Columbus possessed perseverance and faith.
 He believed in his theory. He finally succeeded in persuading the court of Spain to finance his undertaking. He set sail for the unknown land with three ships. Columbus possessed more than perseverance and faith; he had a large supply of courage, which was severely tested on his memorable voyage. When the hours were dark, and the lamp of hope burned low, and his own men threatened to leave him, courage led him on.

Like all discoverers of a new truth,
 Columbus had to endure not only the ridicule of the people of his day, but also their lack of encouragement and appreciation. There is nothing which helps one to "carry on" in the fields of research like the support of those who have faith in us. Columbus did not have this support. He labored alone and many times in the dark, but courage led him on. It overcame for him the prejudice of conservatism. He had courage to express his own idea and sacrifice for it.
 The spirit of courage discovered
 America.

Under the influence of the same spirit America marches on.

Truth's Slow Progress

Truth is said to be eternal; it is well it should be, for error so far outstrikes its stately steps that we might therein fear whether truth would finally overtake it.—Jefferson

GERMAN WOMEN SETTING PACE IN MODES

German revolution has been followed by a revolution of its women, who have "snapped out" of old-fashioned styles of dress, and are going in for the smartest fashions. Anybody who thinks German girls are dowdy has another guess coming these days! Here are three typically German outfits: Left—Fajamas of black crepe satin with jacket of fine embroidery. Center—Embroidered applique silk dress. Right—Green wool dress with new woven stripes for afternoon.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Operations for the rise were continued in today's stock market, despite the uncovering of a few weak spots and occasional bear selling and profit taking. Pools, apparently acting on the theory that easier money rates were in store, marked up more than a dozen specialties 2 to nearly 16 points, gains in the general list being held to a point or two.

Rails again took a permanent part in the opening, under the leadership of Chesapeake Corporation and Ohio, which soared 5 points to 215, a new high record. Chesapeake Corporation moved up nearly 5 points to 84½, also a new top. Other rails to break into new high ground were Union Pacific, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, Illinois Central common and preferred, Canadian Pacific and Norfolk and Western. Texas and Pacific was heavy. Belief that the delayed grain movements will swell fall earnings and renewed talk of special dividend distributions, stimulated the buying of those issues.

General Motors (old stock) which sold as low as 257½ last Thursday, moved up more than 5 points above Saturday's close to 274. Cushman's Bakery jumped 9 points and was followed into new high by Jewel Tea, Cudahy Packing, May Department Stores, United Drug, Stewart Warner, North American Company and Commonwealth Power.

Tobacco Products yielded more than 2 points and Electric Refrigeration sank to a new low for the year.

Costly Orchids
Nearly all the orchids found in Burma can be grown with a little care and attention in private gardens. There is one exception, a sweet-smelling species called tuxia by the Burmese, and which is usually brought to market in Christmas week in Rangoon. It only seems to flower in the most malarious and least frequented localities, and at a time of the year which is the tiger's mating season, and when they are most dangerous to human beings. It is in great demand by Burmese, and sells for its weight in silver.

High Scoring Butter Is Necessary for Success
The difference in price between high and low butter makes it imperative for co-operative creameries to produce a high scoring butter in order to make a success of their enterprise.

Good butter can never be made from poor cream. No matter how skillful the buttermaker may be, he can never expect to place high scoring butter on the market if he must churn cream which has been practically spoiled through careless handling.

It is not a difficult problem to keep cream clean and sweet. Cows should be clean and healthy and stabled in a well ventilated, well cared-for barn. The milk should be drawn into clean, scalded, dry pails. The small-top pails are best. The strainer cloths should be thoroughly boiled and dried. Then it is important that the separator parts be clean.

When cream handled with these precautions is placed in a clean, scalded, dry can and immediately cooled to 50 degrees F. or lower and kept that cold until delivered to the creamery, it will give the buttermaker a raw material from which he can easily make the grade of butter that has brought Minnesota its enviable reputation.—Harold Macy, dairy division, University of Minnesota.

Give Dairy Cows Plenty Water for Best Results
Dairy cows should be watered at least twice a day and best results are obtained when cows can have water at will. The higher the production the greater the benefit to be derived from frequent watering. A heavy producing cow requires from 75 to 150 pounds of water daily.

When it is not available, many successful dairymen have arranged some type of tank heater to remove the chill from the water, and they find that their cows drink more and produce more heavily.

Daily Gains for Calf
When properly fed, calves will make gains of one and a half to two pounds per day for the first four months. The purpose of feeding the dairy calf is to insure steady growth without fattening. The food should be nutritious, but not in concentrated form. Clover hay, corn stover, and silage without much corn in it, and a small amount of straw should constitute the roughage. Bran, barley and oats are excellent for the small allowance of grain it is to receive.

Strange Names Popular
In India names are likely to change as a result of conversion to Christianity. For instance, Mr. Neeppich becomes Mr. Servant of Jesus; Mr. Beggar, Mr. Child of the Church, and Mrs. She Devil, Mrs. Happiness.

DAIRY FACTS

TUBERCULOSIS IS BEING ERADICATED

While more than one million dairy cattle, out of thirty million head tested for tuberculosis, have been castrated, the industry is in better condition today than it was ten years ago when the campaign against the disease was inaugurated. Such was the opinion expressed by Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, at the recent Eastern States Tuberculosis conference.

Fear expressed by many people in the beginning that the campaign would turn the public taste against milk consumption has proved to be unfounded, according to Doctor Mohler. On the other hand, he said, the annual consumption of milk in the United States has increased more than 40 quarts per capita since 1913. During 1926 the public consumed fifty-six billion pounds of milk and cream, an increase of two billion pounds over the quantity consumed in 1925.

Skepticism as to the outcome of the campaign has given way to a feeling of assured success. Today the subject of tuberculosis eradication is popular and there are few individuals connected with the dairy industry who have not expressed publicly or privately, their belief in the success of the campaign.

Although we have reached the point where we can look forward to the time when this disease will no longer be the cause of serious losses, Doctor Mohler said that it is necessary to maintain constant surveillance over the disease to keep it under control. Somewhat the same idea was expressed by Dr. J. A. Klerman, in charge of federal eradication work, when he said that "notwithstanding the fact that more than 50 per cent of the tuberculosis cattle have been eliminated, the work of finishing the task will require greater persistency, skill and organization than ever before."

"Our conception of the necessities for the future has in view," said Doctor Klerman, "the complete control of the situation; that is, there should be some organization, state, county or municipally, engaged continuously in checking up on herds to see that they are free from the disease. It should not be necessary to maintain a large force of veterinarians, at great expense to the taxpayers, to travel from county to county, as has been done during the last ten years, but in every county there should be a sufficient number of practicing accredited veterinarians, and the territory should be divided so that each veterinarian would be able to tuberculin test all herds in his district each year."
